OHIO'S ONLY LIFE

Insurance - Company.

Letter of Hon. Henry Mack State Senator from Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, O., Jan. 19th, 1889.

To the Union Central Life Insurance Co., of Cincinnati, O.:

GENTLEMEN: —

I take pleasure in acknowledging the receipt of Ten Thousand and Eighty-Four Dollars ($10,084.81), the same being in payment of my Policy, No. 7856, for $10,000, issued August 16, 1871. I was among the first of your members to take a Policy on the Life Rate Endowment Plan, and I have thus made eighteen full payments at the Ordinary Life Rate, charged by you and other companies, and by leaving my dividends and profits with the Company, instead of using them to decrease the annual payments, my Policy has become an Endowment, and I have received the full Ten Thousand Dollars, an excess of $84.81.

I can cheerfully recommend the Union Central and its officers, whom I have known personally for many years. I am now beyond the age of insurance according to the law of Ohio, otherwise I should be pleased to take out another Policy, as I can only speak in the highest terms of the Company's fair and honorable dealing, and its kindness and courtesy to me. As a citizen of Cincinnati, I am proud of the great success that the Union Central has made, and the prominent place it now occupies among the largest and best companies in the United States.

I am Yours Very Respectfully,
HENRY MACK.

—o—

West Liberty, Ohio.

December 30th, 1868, I took out a $4,000 Policy on my life, through J. E. Heffellinger, General Agent for the Union Central Life Insurance Company, of Cincinnati, O., on the 20 year Endowment Plan.

December 31st, 1888, I received the money from the Company through the same agent that insured me. It has not only proven good protection to my family, in case of death, but has been a good savings bank, and investment besides. I wish to say that I have received nothing but kind and courteous treatment from the Company all these years, and can recommend it as a good, reliable institution, of financial stability, worthy of public confidence.

A. G. WILLIAMSON,
West Liberty, Logan Co., O.

—o—

Why is the Union Central Life doing so much more business than many of its old Eastern competitors?

Because Ohio's insurance laws are more strict than those of any other State in the Union.

Because there is not a cent of her money invested in fluctuating bonds or stocks, but all must be loaned on Real Estate, worth double the amount of the loan, or Government bonds.

What State compels an examination of its companies, each year, by the Superintendent of Insurance?

Ohio.

What State never had one of its own companies fail, or in the hands of a receiver, and never had a policy holder in one of its own companies lose a dollar of his insurance?

The State of Ohio.

The advantage of doing business with a home company and home agents is apparent to all.

Passenger Train on the St. Louis and San Francisco Wrecked.

FORTY-FIVE PEOPLE INJURED.

Railroad Officials Claim That Train Wreckers Removed the Spikes From the Rails at a Curve—Robbery Undoubtedly the Cause of the Deed—List of the Injured.

ST. LOUIS, May 25.—The westbound train on the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad which left St. Louis last night at 9:45, was wrecked at a point three miles west of Sullivan, Mo., which place is sixty-eight miles west of St. Louis. Not a passenger escaped unhurt, and forty-five are known to have been seriously injured, though no deaths are yet reported. The train was running at a high rate of speed when suddenly without warning the track gave way and the locomotive, baggage car and five coaches went over the embankment, the sleepers remaining on the track.

Fortunately there were no fires in any of the cars, and the jolt extinguished the lights immediately. Otherwise a conflagration would have been caused and there is no telling how many lives might have been lost. As it was, most of the forward cars were smashed into smithereens.

The explanation of the accident given by the trainmen was that the spikes had been removed from the rail at the curve, thus leaving the rail too loose on the ties. Who removed the spikes is not known, but the supposition is the work was done by train robbers, although no robbers put in an appearance.

The railroad officials claim it is a clear case of train wrecking. There is a curve in the road about three miles west of Sullivan, and when this point was reached a sudden jolt and jar was felt all over the train. In an instant all the coaches except the two sleeping cars had been thrown from the rails. People were thrown about in the cars in all directions, and some of them were thrown from the coaches and down the embankment.

One man Walter Davidson, who travels for the Westinghouse air brake, was thrown right out of a window on the opposite side of the coach from which he was sitting, and went rolling down the embankment to the edge of the creek. His feet were in the water. Another passenger in the same coach was thrown from the rear end of the car to the forward end; and, in fact, men, women and children were thrown about promiscuously.

The train men and those only slightly injured turned their attention to the more unfortunate injured, and in a very short time forty-five passengers, all badly hurt, had been released from the debris. A temporary hospital was improvised at Sullivan, and the most seriously injured were taken there, while others were brought to St. Louis on the relief train, which was hurried to the scene of the disaster. The wounded are under the care of Dr. McIntyre, chief surgeon of the road. On the train was a large body of physicians returning from Springfield, where the state medical convention is being held, and they also rendered valuable assistance in caring for the injured. Among the latter was Dr. Russell, who received very serious hurts.

The following is the official list of the injured:

D. S. Weikert, of Wentzville, Mo., both legs broken four inches above the ankle.

George S. Simpson, of Hancock county, Ill.

Patrick O'Day, aged 7 years, fracture of skull; will probably die.

Mrs Kate O'Day, bruised about the head and neck and side injured internally.

Martin O'Day, cut and bruised on the face, also cut in right foot and bruised about the chest.

Mrs. Mary Griffith, of Fair Creek, Ills., injured on forehead and right elbow broken.

John O. Gatley, of Rolla, Mo., right shoulder injured and thumb dislocated.

John E Hollow, of Cuba, Mo., lower part of right side bruised and cut on forehead.

Mrs Mary Ash, of Bloomington, Ind., bruised on left side and severely shocked.

C. W. Phillips, of Springdale, Ark., fracture of arm and cut on shoulders and side.

E. J. Russell, of Tuscarawas, O., severe flesh wounds, and torn and cut in head, severe shock, but rallying nicely. His wife also cut in the head.

B. H. Newman, of Cuba, Mo.

D. Bailey, of New York, arm and leg broken.

C. J. Wright, baggage man, bruised on knee and right side, cut on face.

Paul Horn, of Mt. Pulaski, Ill., and Mrs. W. J. Wayne, of Decatur, Ill., were slightly bruised.

D. W. Graves, of Marshfield, Mo.; John Kendrick, of Ft. Smith, Ark.; J. E. Harlin, of Cuba, Mo.; Walter Davidson, of St. Louis; J. B. Silly, of Rolla, Mo.; B. B. McIntosh, of St. Louis; J. O. Morrison, of Richland, Mo.; Emma Patterson, of Decatur, Ill.; Mrs. W. J. Wright, of Decatur, Ill.; M. Lyss, of St. Louis; Mary O'Day; E. J. Shaw, of Darango, Col.; A. Marx, of St. Louis; J. J. Brenton, of Sparta, Mo.; J. C. Hovele, Litchfield, Ill.; Croel Crester, of Galveston, Ind.; T. L. Cone, of Brest, Mo., and Hattie Shank, of St. Louis, were all more or less injured, though it is not thought any of their injuries will prove fatal.

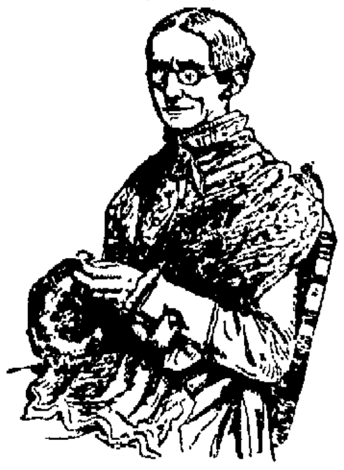
The O'Day family are relatives of Vice President John O'Day, of the St. Louis and San Francisco railway, and the boy and his mother are fatally hurt.

General Manager Merrill has offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the fiends who wrecked the train. Nearly all the injured are still at Sullivan, under the charge of the medical corps of the road.

LAURA BRIDGMAN DEAD.

Death of the Woman Made Famous by Charles Dickens.

BOSTON, May 25.—Laura Bridgman, made widely famous by Charles Dickens in his American notes; also by many public references to her wonderful intelligence, printed in newspapers and elsewhere since then, died yesterday at the South Boston asylum, where she had long dwelt, aged 60 years.



LAURA BRIDGMAN.

Laura Bridgman was born at Hanover, N. H., in 1829. She was a beautiful child, with a bright, sweet face, and every sense as keen as that of a bird or squirrel. At 2 years old, life, as far as one could tell, was opening very fair and happy for the pretty little creature. Then came a severe illness, and darkened the prospects forever. The child lost sight, hearing, smell, and almost the sense of taste, at one sweep of fate. She grew towards girlhood with an attractive face and figure, a noble, intellectual head. It was evidently a mind of no common order, thus shut up and sealed from development. It was a beautiful soul walled in a dungeon. Charles Dickens went to see her on his first visit to America. He writes in the "Notes:" "There was before me, built up, as it were, in a marble cell, impervious to any ray of light or particle of sound, with her poor white hand peeping through a chink in the wall, beckoning to some good man for help, that an immortal soul might be awakened."

Was no communication possible with the outside world for this beautiful soul? The late Dr. S. G. Howe thought there was. Laura was taken to the institution for the blind at Boston, when she was 8 years old. She was taught the alphabet for the deaf and dumb, the language of the fingers. How could it be done when the child was hopelessly blind? It was accomplished through the one sense remaining to her, that of touch. She was made to feel the fingers of the teacher while the sign alphabet was made. A pencil was put into her hand, for instance. She was made to feel it all over and became acquainted with its use. Then its name was spelled out by the fingers, she following the motion with her own fingers. This is the process by which knowledge of the whole world of life and light was let into the soul of Laura Bridgman. She could never, however, be taught to talk articulately to any extent, as so many of the deaf and dumb now do. This was because she could not see the motion of the lips.

A MANSION BURNED.

The Residence of Gen. A. G. P. Dodge, Near Danville, Illinois, Destroyed.

DANVILLE, Ill., May 25.—The $50,000 suburban mansion of Gen. A. G. P. Dodge was burned to the ground at 1 o'clock this morning. At the time of the fire the general and his wife, the latter a niece of United States Senator D. W. Voorhees, were entertaining 200 guests, among whom were Miss C. Cannon and Miss Mabel Cannon, daughters of Congressman Cannon; Judge Wilkin, of the supreme court, and many other prominent people. The fire originated in the roof from the hanging lamps, which had been suspended over the art gallery skylight above the stairway and in the ceiling, for the purpose of illuminating the glass. The fire smouldered and burned in the attic thirty minutes, the first notice of it being the falling of the burning timbers of the roof, which fell down through the skylight, crushing everything beneath as it fell.

The frightened guests, bareheaded and in party apparel, jumped through open windows and fled through back door ways to the surrounding grounds, which were wet with heavy rains. A number of gentlemen in the smoking room upstairs were cut off from the main stairway and made a narrow escape down the servants' stairway. The entire scene was one of confusion and fright. Ladies ran through the crowd seeking their husbands who they feared were being consumed by the flames. But little of the furniture was taken out from the ground floor, none being saved in the upper stories. Gen. Dodge, in attempting to remove some of the property, met with a close call, the roof of the porch falling in above him and being caught by a projecting pillar.

The Mystery Unsolved

The Cronin Murderers Still at Large.

NO STARTLING STATEMENT.

Several People Claim to Know Something of the Affair, But Will Not Talk on the Subject Until the Proper Time Arrives. No Arrests Made.

CHICAGO, May 25.—The mystery in the Cronin murder case still deepens. It was discovered yesterday that a cottage near the residence of Patrick O'Sullivan, the ice man, was rented a little less than two months ago by unknown parties, who paid one month's rent in advance, but never, so far as known, took possession of the premises. This information was given to the police by Mr. Sullivan, and the facts corroborated by the neighbors. A reporter visited the owners of the cottage, a Mr. and Mrs. Carlson, two aged Swedes, but they refused to talk about it, saying they would tell their story to the police.

A young woman living at Mr. Sullivan's said that about three weeks ago one Sunday night she saw a light in the house, but as far as she knew no one had been seen there since. It is said that the parties who rented the place were two young men, evidently Irish workingmen, and that they said they were going to work for Mr. Sullivan. It is not impossible that the cottage was hired by the assassins of Dr. Cronin and he was decoyed to it, murdered there and then the body taken away in the trunk.

Up to the present time nothing has been developed that has been made public. The detectives having charge of the case are reticent and what statements they give out are guarded or evasive. With the exception of a few moments in the morning the body was sealed up all day in a zinc lined air tight box undergoing a new embalming process, which the undertakers called a vapor bath and believe will prevent any further decomposition. The body was taken from the box during the morning to allow a Lake View photographer an opportunity to photograph the head.

Capt. O'Connor was the only one of Dr. Cronin's friends who called during the day. He said that the remains would probably be taken to St. Catharines, Ont.

States Attorney Longenecker was seen at his office late last night. He had just returned from a visit to Lake View, and was in a well satisfied mood.

"Lieut. Schuettler and Capt Wing have been doing some very successful work in the case, and have some very important clews. I think it will be only a short time before some of those directly implicated in the murder of Dr Cronin will be under arrest."

The cottage on Ashland avenue, where it is believed Dr. Cronin was murdered, is the center of attraction, and is guarded by the police. Thousands of curious people visited the location yesterday, but were kept outside the premises by the officers.

Was Cronin in Toronto?

A News special from Toronto says. Charley Long, the young man who claims to have seen and interviewed Dr. Cronin in this city, was asked last night what he thought of the matter since the finding of the doctor's body. He still maintains the correctness of his story, and says that when the time comes he will go to Chicago and vindicate his position. He claims to have had a three years' intimacy with Cronin and to have conversed with him. His theory is that after his visit to Toronto Cronin returned to Chicago and was murdered. He went over the circumstances of his meeting Cronin on Thursday, May 9, and also on the following Saturday, and tells a very plausible story of the alleged interview.

With regard to the insinuation that he was a tool in the hands of Cronin's murderers to throw the authorities off the scent, Long utterly repudiates the charges and claims that any one who knows him will not believe him capable of such a business.

England's Interest in the Case

The News prints the following. The possibility that the English government through its secret agents may have had something to do with the Cronin mystery is not being lost sight of. Irish-Americans generally, with this thought in view, have been closely watching developments. One well posted gentleman said yesterday, Scotland Yard has a finger in every Irish pie. It would be queer indeed if the Cronin business proved the first exception. Improbable, you say? Not a bit of it. Who would have believed beforehand for a moment in the horrible truth about Pigott?

There was an instance where, with the funds of the British exchequer, the highest Tory officials, in a far reaching, cunningly devised plot to destroy the Irish movement by ruining the leader, Parnell.

"Now," said the speaker, warmly, "who is the beneficiary in this Cronin business? Who is the loser? Let it hurt or help what single person it may, the chief gain, immeasurably, is to the Tory government of England; the main harm far exceeding the disgrace of any individual is to the Irish National movement in America. Let me tell you something peculiar, and, perhaps, not a little significant. The very date of Cronin's disappearance was the anniversary of the Phoenix park assassination, the identical odious event with which it was sought to connect Parnell. The London Times' conspiracy to destroy the Irish movement at home was opportunely sprung in a time of sore need for the Tories.

"If the Irish movement could be ruined in America at such a crisis as the present would not the Pigott fiasco be retrieved and with a vengeance? Granting the possibility of another Pigott affair, no better intended victim could have been chosen than the ex-president of the Irish National league of America. An incident well known in his career once put him on trial for murder. Placed under suspicion of a similar crime the man would be fearfully handicapped. Cronin had for years boasted openly and often of possessing proof of rottenness in Irish organizations and alleged misconduct by the ex-president. If anything happened to Cronin, who delighted to pose as a mighty antagonist of the land league official what could be easier than to have it appear that the latter was responsible?

"This phase of the mystery will not escape attention, I assure you, and to Irishmen who bitterly remember Pigott and LeCaron, and hundreds of lesser demons working systematically for years, the idea is no mere idle theory.

"A check to the Parnellites now would be worth heaven itself to the Tories. Their London Times case is daily nearing its ignominious end, and closely following comes the great congress of Irish-Americans at Philadelphia, where thousands upon thousands of dollars it has been expected would be subscribed for Parnell. At this momentous juncture suddenly stands revealed a horror and scandal, second to none in the history of politics. You can draw your own conclusions. I more than half have mine."

RIOT IN GUTHRIE

Over the Settlement of Disputed Claims. The Military on Guard.

GUTHRIE, I. T., May 24. The difficulties arising from the settlement of claims in this city culminated Thursday in a serious riot. There are altogether over 1,000 disputed claims. The city government decided to make a test of the case of the dispute of two claimants to a piece of land.

The names of the claimants are respectively Driscoll and Diemer. The marshal proceed to remove Diemer from the land claimed by Driscoll, but on learning of the marshal's intentions a mob of about 1,200 assembled and drove him away. The mob was about to attack the city hall when Capt. Cavanah, with a detachment of troops arrived on the scene and disposed the rioters.

The authorities then proceeded to eject Diemer. He fought like a tiger, and had to be dragged from his tent to the street. The building occupied by Driscoll was then pushed forward to the place occupied by the tent. The mob attempted to tear the house to pieces, but was repulsed. Thursday night the military guarded the streets. More trouble is anticipated when the evictions are renewed

IT TOOK NERVE.

A Plucky Doctor's Experience With Highwaymen—He Plays Possum.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., May 24.—When Dr. John Allen, of Stanley county, was returning home Tuesday night he was met by highwaymen, who robbed him of $30.

When the doctor was released he became furious. As he was not armed, he picked up stones and pelted the highwaymen. He was again overpowered and led to a tree, where the robbers, after putting a noose around his neck, told him to pray and then swung him up to a limb. By some mistake in adjusting the noose Dr. Allen's neck was not broken, neither did death result from the hanging.

After he had been hanging about half an hour he was cut down and left lying upon the ground, as the robbers supposed him to be dead. Allen went home and told his experience. He says he pretended to be suffocated by the rope, struggling for a moment and then was quiet. This seemed to show the robbers that he was really dead, so they cut him down. Donald Chavis has been jailed, suspected of being one of the highwaymen.

A Destructive Fire.

LINCOLN, Ill., May 25. A disastrous fire visited the village of Elkhart, the home of ex-Governor Oglesby, early this morning. Nine business houses were burned to the ground, together with their contents. The loss is estimated at $50,000.

More Encouraging.

Business Prospects Promising at the Present.

A BETTER CROP PROSPECT.

Nearly Every Branch of Trade Picking Up and Show an Increased Volume of Business Over the Transactions of a Year Ago.—Failures of the Past Week.

NEW YORK, May 25.—R. G. Dun & Company's weekly review of trade says: The reports this week are a little more encouraging. With a volume of business rather larger than a year ago, there are decidedly better crop prospects and of late there is a better feeling in the branches of industry and trade which have been most depressed. Iron, coal and wool look better, and a better trade in cotton is expected to follow the large auction here on Thursday.

The average of prices continues to decline, particularly for products in which there is most speculation and during the past week the fall has been three quarters of one per cent, in spite of some advance in cotton, wool, oil and butter. Greater activity and better prices in the stock market reflect a feeling of increased confidence in the business outlook.

Wool is a shade stronger because prices asked by growers are much above the market, but there is little change in the attitude of manufacturers who buy for present necessities but hold that the goods market must improve before even the present prices can be profitably paid for material. The treasury decision on worsteds is still awaited with interest and until it comes little change is probably. The average price of 101 grades of wool on the 15th was a tenth of a cent higher than May 1.

The auction of about $1,800,000 worth of cottons brought prices 7½ per cent. below those of agents, and is expected to form a basis for more confident trading hereafter; cotton is a sixteenth stronger, and exports as well as receipts now fall far behind last year's, but the crop reports from the south are generally favorable, especially from Texas.

The dry goods business is on the whole not more active, but with a more confident feeling, though clothing dealers are in many cases complaining of the slow collections which result from small distribution last winter. Close on the heels of the failure of one large worsted mill at Philadelphia comes the beginning of work of immense bills for the Botany Worsted company at Passaic.

There is a better feeling, but as yet without improvement of prices, in the iron and steel trade, where southern No 1 foundry is still freely offered here at $16; the higher grades of No. 1 northern are taken more freely at $18 at Philadelphia, and it is hoped that the decline has been arrested. Bar iron is in better demand; plate and tank, though at the lowest prices of the year, are wanted to the full capacity of works; structural iron is fairly active, and there is good business in wrought pipe at the late advance. But in rails no change appears and the run of small orders is at about $26.75 at mills. In anthracite coal an advance in prices June 1 is announced, and many miners are resuming work, the total output to date being about 1,500,000 tons below last year's. Lead is weaker, a decision by the treasury on imports of Mexican being awarded. Tin has advanced abroad and sells here at 20⅞ cents. The agreement to hold lake copper at 12 cents is not expected by consumers to prevent a further decline, and the buying is therefore restricted.

Accounts from interior cities are without important change anywhere and show a full volume of business for the season, the bank exchanges outside New York exceeding last year's by about 7 per cent. At Milwaukee trade larger than last year's is disappointing, because it falls short of expectations, and that is probably the fact at many other points. Collections, however, are rather slow there, and "not over good" at Kansas City, and at Philadelphia poor in boots and shoes, clothing and groceries, but the general tenor of reports on that point is rather more favorable. Money is everywhere in sufficient supply, and the light demand causes unusual plethora at some points. The western distributing centers are all encouraged by exceptionally favorable crop prospects, which are also felt in speculative markets. Wheat has declined 1 cent to 81¼, and was even lower during the week; oats have declined 1⅛ cents and corn ½ cent, with but moderate sales. Pork products are a shade weaker, and flour 10 to 30 cents per barrel lower.

A little improvement appears in exports, about 6 per cent. over last year for three weeks of May, but the increase in imports is about 17 per cent. The returns point to a large excess of imports for this month, and the preliminary statements for April appear to indicate an excess of about $6,000,000. It is therefore an evidence of reviving foreign purchases of securities that gold does not go out more largely, but $1,750,000 were taken for exports last Saturday. The treasury does not interfere, and offerings of bonds are light; in about a month only $5,000,000 have been purchased at 108, while $7,000,000 were bought last year in the same time at lower prices. But it is thought that more liberal offerings may be made in June, and meanwhile the treasury has taken in during the week only $800,000 more cash than it has paid out; the local money market is amply supplied and steady at 2 per cent. on call, and foreign exchange fluctuates scarcely at all. In short, no signs of monetary disturbance appear.

The business failures occurring throughout the country during the last seven days number, for the United States 207, and for Canada 22, or a total of 229 failures, as compared with 252 last week, and 228 the week previous to the last. For the corresponding week of last year the figures were 225, made up of 213 in the United States and 12 in the Dominion of Canada.

Fatal Accident in a Mine.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., May 25.—While a bucket of broken rock, weighing over a ton, was being hoisted to the surface in the new Pettibone shaft of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railway, near Kingston, the wire rope broke, letting the bucket fall nearly 1,000 feet upon the men engaged in blasting at the bottom. Eden Jones was instantly killed, and James Coyle, Samuel Gessman, Cornelius Conn, George Veetjuet and George Gresby mangled so that they will die before morning. The other men were less seriously injured.

Stronger Evidence Against the Doctors.

NEW YORK, May 25.—In the Bishop inquest yesterday the mind reader's mother and several doctors testified that Bishop had been subject all his life to trances, in which he appeared to be dead and was dead according to all medical tests. These trances lasted from a few hours to a week. The testimony is regarded as very strong against the physicians who performed the autopsy.

Sensational Elopement.

ATLANTA, Ga., May 25.—Miss Nina Kirby Smith, daughter of Gen. Kirby Smith, the confederate chieftain, at present professor of mathematics at Sewanee university, Tenn., eloped Wednesday night with student Buck, of the university, and the couple were married by a justice of the peace in Winchester, Tenn. Miss Smith was to have been married next Monday to Mr. Boylston, a wholesale merchant of Atlanta, and one of the vestryman of St. Phillip's church, the fashionable congregation of this city.

Rioting Miners in Illinois.

PRINCETON, Ill., May 25.—Sheriff Henderson, who has been on guard during the past two weeks at Seatorville, a mining town twelve miles east of here, has telegraphed for reinforcements. The city marshal left immediately with a posse. A riot is anticipated, as the striking miners of Spring Valley, La Salle and Streator have threatened to close the mines by force. The coal mines at Seatorville are the only ones in operation in the northern part of the state.

Fire in an Oil Works.

NEW YORK, May 24.—The Tidewater Oil company's plant at Constable Hook, N. J., with the greater part of its contents, was burned Thursday night, entailing a loss of between $80,000 and $85,000. The fire is said to have been caused by an electric spark from a dynamo in the pump house.

SECOND ANNUAL COMMENCEMENT

Of the Marion Normal and Commercial Institute. Four Graduate.

The second annual commencement of the Marion Normal and Commercial Institute took place at Normal chapel Friday evening, May 24th. The hall was beautifully and appropiatly decorated with flowers and evergreens, and the program consisted of numbers which were both entertaining and instructive.

The exercises commenced by singing of an anthem, "I Will Joy," by a quartette consisting of Miss Shute, Mrs. Smith, and Messrs. Buckels and Black. This selection was followed by a short prayer by Rev. Yale; then came "That Melody Divine," a solo by Miss Shute, which was sung in a beautiful and pleasing manner. Miss Shute's voice is quite strong and clear and her singing deserved great credit. This was followed by "Attributes of Success," an oration by Alonzo Wagner Strode, in which Mr Strode explained that the only true method to gain success is by determination and pluck. Mr. Strode's excellent delivery and easy manner upon the stage, together with the merit of his oration, well deserved the loud applause which he received. "It might have been," an essay by Mary Etta Haines, was the next upon the program. This production was well rendered, and although Miss Haines' voice is not strong, she spoke very distinctly and was easily understood by the audience. She demonstrated the many causes for reviewing past life with the words "it might have been," and that failures in life are always due to lost opportunities. Then came "Song of the Lark," which was sung by Miss Shute, Mrs. Smith and Messrs. Buckles and Black. The next was an essay, entitled "Luck," by Lucette Manville. She expressed in an easy manner how the word is much abused when our hopes have ended with failure, by each one forgetting there is such a thing as bad management and placing all the blame to luck. The essay received much merited applause, and was appreciated greatly by the audience. The next following was an oration by Elmer E. Creswell, "Beginning Life." Mr. Creswell explained that education alone would not gain success in life, but that all is due to industry and toil.

This was followed by a short address to the class, a few kind words of encouragement to those just starting out in life, and the presentation of diplomas by Hon. B. G. Young. A duett, "Only Thee," was sang by Miss Shute and Prof. Buckles, and then Prof. J. H. Snyder, of Mt. Gilead, gave an address on "Interpretation," which was interesting and instructive both to the class and the audience. The program was ended by the singing of "Good Night" by the quartette.

Rev. Yale pronounced the benediction, and an invitation was given for all to remain and take part in the social. After an hour had been spent in social enjoyment all returned home, well pleased with the evening's entertainment and with good wishes for the class of '89.

Notice to Contractors.

Bids will be received by the Huber Manufacturing Company, at their office, in Marion, Ohio, up to Tuesday noon June 4th, 1889, for furnishing stone and laying foundation, and for laying brick, furnishing all material excepting brick, for the new Huber shops. Brick to be furnished on the ground by the Huber Manufacturing Company. Stone work to be by the perch, measured in the wall, openings out. Bids to be for either a part or for all of the work, and the right reserved to reject any or all bids. Trenches for stone work to be dug by the Huber Manufacturing Company.

Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of the Huber Manufacturing Company. Bond required of parties receiving contract for either all or part. Entire job estimated to take 2,000,000 brick and 5,500 perch of stone.

Pimples on the Face

Denote an impure state of the blood and are looked upon by many with suspicion. Acker's Blood Elixir will remove all impurities and leave the complexion smooth and clear. There is nothing that will so thoroughly build up the constitution, purify and strengthen the whole system. Sold and guaranteed by H. C. Hobberman & Co.

Lard Tanks Burned.

SIOUX CITY, Iowa, May 24.—Three large lard tanks at the Boege packing house were burned Thursday morning. Loss, $25,000.

Passed Over the Falls.

LEWISTON, N. Y., May 25.—The dead body of an unknown man was picked up in the river near here yesterday. He was about 35 years of age, and five feet seven inches in height. His legs were badly broken, and a big wound on the head it is feared that he had evidently passed over the falls.

The Robbins Circus.

Robbins' Circus opened auspiciously on Saturday night with a set of novelties which are rarely seen in a circus. The American Institute was overcrowded, and every degree of satisfaction was expressed at the performance, which was well worth the price of admission.—Dramatic Times, Dec. 31.

Caution to Mothers.

Every mother is cautioned against giving her child laudanum or paregoric; it creates an unnatural craving for stimulants which kills the mind or the child. Acker's Baby Soother is specially prepared to benefit children and cure their pains. It is harmless and contains no Opium or Morphine. Sold by H. C. Hoberman & Co.

Mormons Emigrating

HELENA, Mont., May 24.—During the last month a considerable number of emigrants have been passing through Montana, en route to British possessions, traveling in wagons. It has been ascertained that they are Mormons from Utah and [illegible] and that their destination is the country through which the Galt railway passes.

Mrs Theis, St. Mary's st., Indianapolis, Ind., says: My little boy was badly afflicted with Salt Rheum, his face badly broken out and a large sore on his head. Your Extract of Red Clover cured him in three weeks.

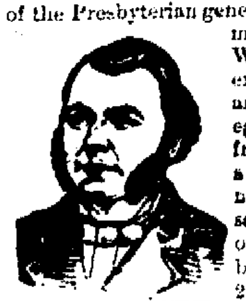
THE PRESBYTERIANS.

Proceedings of the General Assembly Meeting in New York City.



WILLIAM C. ROBERTS

NEW YORK, May 25.—At the opening of the Presbyterian general assembly the moderator, Rev. William C. Roberts, announced an important telegram. It was from the southern assembly, announcing the passage of the co-operation report by a vote of 99 to 27. The discussion of this report, which was under consideration when the assembly adjourned Thursday, was then continued. The majority report of the committee was finally adopted. The report of the standing committee on church erection was then presented and accepted. The estimates for the coming year are $150,000.

A committee was appointed to report to the next general assembly on the advisability of appointing deaconesses for such work as may be suitable.

The price of the church organ, Home and abroad, was reduced from $1.50 to $1 per year, and advertisements will hereafter be inserted in the paper.

The overture of fifteen presbyteries for a revision of portions of the Westminster confession was debated, many delegates declaring the confession was no more infallible than the pope.

Dr. Crosby and others, however, urged that a revision should be made only upon a general demand from the church at large. Fifteen presbyteries were not enough. The report of the committee on overtures, recommending that all presbyteries be asked to reply to the question whether they desired a revision, and if so to what extent, was adopted, after a substitute offered by Dr. Duffield, of New Jersey, declaring revision not expedient at the present time, had been ejected. Adjourned.

His Complexion Was Against Him.

Hadji Hassein Ghooly Khan, envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary from Persia, is one of the favorites in Washington society, and he is very fond of going out and calling on the ladies, and is always most hospitably received wherever he goes. That is, almost always, for an experience he had last Sunday afternoon proved that he was not as cordially received at one house as has been his wont in the past. Ghooly Khan started out with the purpose of making a round of calls. It is his custom to pay his respects to the ladies of the fashionable world on Sunday the same as on week days. Sunday being an extremely pleasant day, his landau was not brought into use. He walked from his residence on M street to Massachusetts avenue, in the neighborhood of Fourteenth street, where the objects of his first call resided. Walking up the stone steps in an indolent fashion, he reached the door and rather timidly touched the electric bell. After lingering some moments the servant appeared, and before Ghooly Khan could utter a word she shouted out: "The ladies are all busy and cannot be bothered with you now."

"Well," said the minister, completely nonplused, "there must be a mistake; take in my card."

"Oh! don't worry them now," answered the servant, not allowing him to finish his sentence. "They are all about going to dinner and don't care for any one to see them at this time—you'd better come again in the morning; and the side door is always the handiest place for such as yez to call."

The minister waited for no more. The rebuff he had received at the hands of the unruly servant completely paralyzed him. He made no more calls that day, and had about concluded that he had had a sufficient dose of American society.

The ladies of the house soon learned of the "horrible" manner in which their distinguished caller had been received, and they at once made heroic and happily successful efforts to have the affair settled on a basis satisfactory not only to themselves but to the distinguished envoy from Teheran.—New York Tribune.

A Tragedy.

The vigilantes had just captured a noted gambler, and, leading him to a convenient tree, were about to string him up.

The Victim (despairingly)—Pity me for my mother's gray hair!

[They bind him hand and foot.]

The Victim (beseechingly)—Twelve thousand dollars if you spare my life!

[They fit the noose about his neck.]

The Victim (earnestly)—The title to the richest gold mine in the west!

[They seize the rope and prepare to haul him up.]

The Victim (confidently)—Say, boys, let me off, and I'll show you how to hold four aces every time!

The Vigilantes (in chorus)—Unbind him—for his mother's sake—pity—too bad to hang—such a thorough gentleman.

[They kneel before the gambler.]

Some Like Him.

"Was going up on the car the other night," he said, "and met a friend on the platform. Had a big package under his arm. Offered him a cigar. He took it. Didn't know till he got off that he had four boxes under his arm. What do you think of that?"

"Rather odd."

"Should smile to ripple! Made a mistake, however, and gave him a cigar that was loaded. Had it loaded to blow my brother's head off."

"And it exploded?"

"Becher life! Maybe you have seen a man out riding with no eyebrows and his nose done up in a rag. Same man. Never speak to me again. So long."—Detroit Free Press.

The Truth of the Matter.

Once a pleasure loving Teuton put his Sunday go to —— suit on, and he started for a frolic in the much neglected zoo.
Gazed with speechless satisfaction upon every rare attraction, and he wondered when 'twas over what he next had better do.
But his moment's indecision was arrested by a vision, and at once the other creatures seemed comparatively crude.
'Twas that gratis exhibition of conceit and inanition, that from poverty of language we are forced to call a "Dude."
But the Teuton, unacquainted with the genus, nearly fainted, could that be a human being so unusually shaped?
"Hi!" he yelled, the seven sleepers must have opened up their peepers, "Dot is himself, vere's der keeper for der monkey half escaped."

AN EASTERN TALE.

A king once summoned his three sons,
And thus addressed the anxious ones:
"Go forth, my sons, through all the earth
And search for articles of worth;
Then he who brings the choicest thing,
Shall in my stead be crowned as king."

In one year's time again they meet,
And kneel before the sovereign's feet:
And as with gracious outstretched hand,
He welcomed home the youthful band,
He natural eagerness expressed,
To see the objects of their quest.
The first such lustrous pearl displays,
That every tongue is loud in praise.
So white, the snow-flakes on their way
Compared to them are dull and gray.
The next a diamond more pure,
And larger than the Koh-i-noor,
That shone with such a brilliant light,
The sunbeams, shamed, withdrew from sight.
'Twas hard to choose between the two,
The monarch knew not what to do.
The third is standing calmly there;
Now, with a half triumphant air
And smile of confidence and hope,
He shows a cake of Ivory Soap,
So peerless in its purity,
That dirt, alarmed, takes wings to fly
The old king, as it meets his sight,
Grasps it, and cries in wild delight:
"No more confusion or dismay,
No more cold meals on washing day.
Subjects! my youngest son obey.
The Ivory Soap has won the day."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'Ivory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Spring Disorders

Shattered nerves, tired brain, impure blood, debilitated system, all are the natural outcome in the Spring. A medicine must be used, and nothing equals Paine's Celery Compound. We let others praise us—you cannot help believing a disinterested party.

Brigadier-General W. L. Greenleaf, Burlington, Vt., writes: "I have used Paine's Celery Compound on several occasions, and always with benefit. Last spring, being very much worn down and debilitated, I commenced its use. Two bottles made me feel like a new man. As a general tonic and spring medicine, I do not know of its equal."

"I have used two bottles of your Paine's Celery Compound, and it has given entire satisfaction as an appetizer and blood purifier."
T. L. BERNER, Watertown, Dakota.

Paine's Celery Compound

Is prescribed by physicians, recommended by druggists, endorsed by ministers, praised by users, and guaranteed by the manufacturers, as a spring medicine which will do all that is claimed for it. Use it this spring, and see how quickly it tones you up.

Purifies the Blood.

Full accounts of wonderful cures made by Paine's Celery Compound after other medicines and the best physicians had failed, sent free. There is nothing like it.

Intemperate Use of Coffee and Tea.

Intoxication may ensue from drinking either tea or coffee. There has existed for several years in London a club of newspaper reporters, which meets every Saturday night for the purpose of indulging in tea drinking: its members not infrequently become intoxicated. Cases of delirium tremens from the use of tea have been reported. The poisoning qualities of tea are most apparent when it is eaten. When first introduced into England, about the year 1665, it was served in a bowl like spinach, as an article of food; and the effects of eating it were such that, for a long time afterward, it was considered to be a deadly drug, and its sale was regarded as disreputable.

Those who chew dry tea leaves extract from them the alkaloid, which is a very powerful poison. It first produces a pleasant exhilaration, but its subsequent effects are sleeplessness, delirium, an unnatural state of mind and abnormal desires. The habit seems to be most indulged in by servants, who, having the tea caddy at their disposal, sometimes help themselves from it, a pinch at a time. The smell alone of coffee, when it is stored in great bulk—as in the hold of ships—produces deadly nausea, dizziness and faintness. When cargoes of coffee thus stowed become shifted in a storm, one of the most dreaded duties of the sailor is to go down into the hold and restore them to their places; the boys and weak stomachs find it impossible to keep at work above half an hour.

The habitual coffee drunkard has thin features, a drawn and wrinkled face, and grayish yellow complexion. His sleep is troubled with anxious dreams. His pulse is weak, frequent and compressible. It is asserted that coffee more frequently injures people's eyes and ears than does either tobacco or alcohol. It does not produce absolute blindness or deafness, but very annoying disturbances. That coffee is the cause is seen from the fact that when it is left off the trouble ceases. The symptoms of chronic caffeism, or coffee drunkenness, are loss of appetite, insomnia, trembling of the lips and tongue, dyspepsia, neuralgia, pain in the stomach, giddiness, convulsions and obstinate constipation.—Boston Herald.

Why He Was Not There.

Sheridan Knowles had many acquaintances, and his memory did not always serve him in recalling their names, but, as the following incident shows, he was never at a loss in such circumstances:

It is said that Knowles was talking to a friend in the street, when a gentleman came up to him and exclaimed, in rather an abrupt, and even angry manner:

"Why did you not keep your promise to dine with us last Thursday, Mr. Knowles? It was a distinct engagement made between you and me. You kept the rest of the company waiting for nearly an hour. It is really too"——

"Me boy," said Knowles, "ye don't know how vexed I am. No, I did not forget ye. Ask Mrs. Knowles if ye don't believe me. I was ill, me boy; but it's thankful I am to say I am better now. Give me another chance. Name your own time. Any day next week."

"You really will? Well, say Thursday again; and you will not fail us? Same hour—6. Will that suit you?"

"Perfectly. Oh, you may depend upon me, never fear! I'll be to the fore that day."

With a hand shake to Knowles and a bow to his friend, the would be host walked away. Knowles looked after him, lost in thought, till he disappeared.

"That man's face is familiar to me! Do you know who he is?" said the author to his friend.

"No, I don't," said the friend.

"Devil take me if I do, either," said Knowles.—Frith's Reminiscences.

Traveling Electric Light.

A traveling electric light has been used in Germany with much success. The arrangement is a very simple one. A dynamo, with an engine to drive it, is mounted on a wagon, something like that of a steam fire engine, containing boiler, fuel box and water tank, complete for a night's service. A supply of wire and a number of poles corresponding to the number of arc lights required, are added to the equipment, which is then drawn by a pair of horses to any desired place. On arriving there, the poles are set up where required and stayed with wires fastened with stakes driven into the ground; the lamps are then hung to them and properly connected, and the engine is set in motion. The lights immediately kindle, and from one to fifty lamps can be operated, according to the power of the machine. As the lamps can be suspended anywhere, and are not affected by wind or rain, the advantage of the apparatus to contractors and others who have to carry on night work is apparent.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

Sand Showers and Drifts.

Dry, loose sand, wherever it occurs, is constantly being shifted by the wind, and often buries cultivated lands, buildings and forests. On the shores of Lake Michigan are drifts 100 feet deep, and those of Cornwall reach 300 feet in depth, while the drifts of the Gobi desert are 40 miles long and 900 feet high in places. On the shores of the Bay of Biscay the drifting sand travels inland 16 feet a year, in parts of Denmark 21 feet, and in southern India 17 yards. In some places walls and barriers of vegetation have been created to stop the destroying drifts. Fine sand is taken up to a great height in the air, and deposited many miles away. In 1882 Iceland was visited by a remarkable sand storm, lasting two weeks, which hid the sun and objects a few yards off like a dense fog, and caused the death of thousands of sheep and horses.—New York Telegram.

The Nation's Great Men.

"Pa, where was Capt. Anson born?"

"I don't know, I'm sure."

"Where was John L. Sullivan born?"

"I don't know that either."

"Pa, I wish you would buy me a history of the United States."—Chicago Herald.

TRICKS AMONG TELEGRAPHERS.

The Tenderfoot Is Usually Put Through a Vigorous Course of Sprouts.

"Speaking of country town telegraphers," said a veteran operator, "reminds me of a story on myself. I was the 'student' of the railway station in a small New Jersey town when an old timer came down there to work a wire in the division superintendent's office, which was just across the track in another building.

"One day I answered a call on my instrument and got a message from Master Mechanic McMartin, who lived down the track sixty miles, asking me as a personal favor to take the handcar and go down the road about three miles to the farm of J. Bird, where I would get 500 strawberry plants. He wanted me to bring them to the station and send them down by the evening express. Now McMartin was in especial favor with me. I had two brothers working under him, and I naturally thought he was a great man. So I said I would do it.

"I went home, got a big clothes basket, rolled out the handcar, and with one of the boys that always hang around a country depot started out to find the farm of J. Bird. I had never heard of any such person, but thought I might have overlooked him. So I pumped away up a long grade until I reckoned I had gone at least three miles. Then I hailed a man in a field and asked him where J. Bird lived. He said there wasn't any such man around there—might live farther west; so I went on a couple of miles until I found another man, and he was at least half a mile away in a plowed field. So I floundered over that stretch of broken ground and asked him where to find the farm of J. Bird. He said he had lived in that county thirty years, and that no such person had ever been in it so far as he knew—there was no such man in that immediate section, anyway.

"I went back to the handcar in a quandary. I would have gone farther west, though I was already between eight and nine miles from town, and my hands from pumping the handcar were blistered fearfully, if it hadn't been for the old farmer's positive statement that no such man lived anywhere around. Finally I concluded that there had been some mistake and started back. It was mighty hard work and my hands were awful sore, but I pumped away, and at last I rolled up to the depot. There was a great crowd of young fellows there, and when I picked up the big clothes basket and stepped on to the platform everybody gave me a great laugh. Then the old time operator put his head out of the window and sung out:

"'Got them strawberry plants?'

"It didn't take me more'n a second to realize the whole measly trick. The operator from the other building had switched on his ground wire, called me up and sent me the message and signed it McMartin. On the strength of that I had gone out on a hunt for a jaybird and come back with two dozen blisters. While I was gone he had circulated the story and the gang had gathered. I didn't hear the last of that sell for months, and I was so suspicious afterward that I wouldn't answer my own call half the time. That's what I call a low down trick; but I've hoaxed young operators just as badly since. It teaches 'em the business."—New York Star.

"Hats Off!"

Two characteristics mark the Russian people: an intense reverence for the czar, and an idolizing adoration for the mere picture of any royal or sacred personage. While visiting Kieff, Mr. Morrison, an English lawyer, entered a telegraph office.

As he passed through the door, he gave the usual continental salute by raising his hat; but he had advanced only a few steps within the room, when a loud shout bade him take off his hat. The Englishman went up to the shouting official, and apologized for his unintentional rudeness.

"It is not for me, sir," replied the clerk. "It is for the emperor," and he pointed over his shoulder to an unflattering colored picture of his majesty Alexander III.

The most sacred entrance to the Kremlin, at Moscow, is the Redeemer gate, so called because there is hung in it a picture of the Saviour—a picture of great sanctity. Even the emperor has to uncover his head as he passes through this gate. The passage under the gate is a long one, but even in a terrific snow storm every one uncovers his head.

The traveler is told that when Napoleon refused to take his hat off, while passing before the sacred picture, a sudden gust of wind took it off for him.—Youth's Companion.

The Gum to Chew.

It is a good plan for those who wish to improve their throats to chew pure spruce gum, pine gum or that of the compass wood of the western prairies, for the exercise of the jaws develops the throat, and the resinous qualities of the gum strengthen digestion. I don't mean to recommend the habit of chewing gum, as practiced by its devotees, but there never was an unsightly habit which had so much to be said for it. Rank dyspeptics, with the coating eaten off their stomachs, as the doctors say, find relief to their cravings by chewing pure spruce gum, and all agree that the lungs are better for it. The compound of paraffine and sweet stuff sold for gum has nothing to recommend it.—St. Louis Republic.

Why Didn't They Pull Them Off?

Two youngsters who found the business of selling papers and shining shoes a trifle dull the other night, agreed to polish each other's shoes. But each was evidently distrustful of the other's honesty. Neither wanted to begin the shining operation. At last it was settled by the flip of a penny that Joe should commence on Billy's shoes. When Joe had made Billy's right shoe like look unto looking glass, he threw down the brushes and said: "I ain't goin' ter shine the other shoe till you've shined one er mine —I'm onto yer game, Billy." Billy's protests were in vain. He had to shine Joe's right shoe before the latter would polish Billy's left.—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Caught at Last.

Father (shouting down stairs in an angry voice)—Mary!

Mary (who is with her beau who has been waiting on her for about three years)—Yes, sir.

F.—Is Mr. Slowcoach there?

M.—Yes, sir.

F.—Is he proposing to you that he is staying so late?

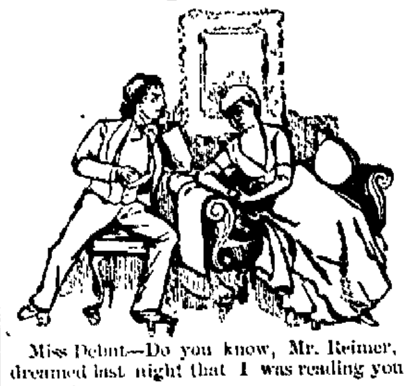
M. (to Mr. Slowcoach in a frightened whisper)—Oh! what shall I say?

Mr. S. (trembling in his boots)—Say yes.

M. (to her father)—Yes, papa.

F.—All right, all right; excuse me. Tell him he can have you. Bless you both, my children. He needn't hurry away.—Boston Courier.

A Sight of Terror.



Miss Debut—Do you know, Mr. Reimer, I dreamed last night that I was reading your poetry?

Mr. Reimer—Indeed! you flatter me highly, I am sure.

Miss Debut—I don't know about that; I remember that I tried with all my might to wake up and couldn't.—Once a Week.

Hit by a Coincidence.

The owner of a place on Second avenue stood in his barn door on the alley the other day when a man with a wooden leg and a crutch came along and passed the time o' day and finally said:

"Say, I want you to do me a favor. I want to leave my leg with you for a few minutes."

"Why?"

"I want to go around on Second avenue and work a house for half a dollar in money. I've got a pointer that the folks are very sympathetic. If I go with one leg I'm sure of it."

"Very well; just leave your leg here and I'll take care of it."

The wooden substitute was unstrapped and handed over, and the cripple used the crutch to help himself down the alley. Five minutes later he rang the doorbell of a house around the avenue, to have it opened by the man he had seen at the barn.

"W—wha—what!" he gasped in astonishment.

"Very sympathetic family lives here!" quietly replied the other. "You seem to have met with a sad loss, and I'm anxious to help you. Here is a wooden leg which may fit you."

The leg was handed over, the man sat down on the steps and strapped it on, and as he got up and stamped through the gate, he said to himself:

"I've heard of coincidences ever since I was knee high to a hop toad, but this is the first one that ever hit me with both feet to once!"—Detroit Free Press.

The Rascal Promptly Responded.

Up in a certain town the grocers understand all the little tricks of the trade. A gentleman bought six pounds of sugar, and found it sadly adulterated with sand. The next day a notice was posted reading thus:

"NOTICE—I bought six pounds of sugar of a grocer in this village. From it I have taken one pound of sand. If the rascal will send me six pounds of sugar I will not expose him."

The next day five six pound packages of sugar were left at the gentleman's residence, there being just five grocers in the village.—Boston Record.

Behind the Scenes.

Manager of Fake Show—Well, what's the matter now, John?

Property Man—Everything's gone wrong. The crocodile says he'll light out if you don't pay him his last week's salary; the bearded woman wants a plug of tobacco, and he's mad because I won't lend him a dime to get it with; and the fasting girl says she'd rather fast than eat the steak the butcher sent.—Yankee Blade.

A Summer Arrangement.

Jones—So you and Katie have fallen out. Can't you make up with her?

Brown—Not till the ice cream season is past. I've no money to waste on that luxury, so I turn my cold shoulder toward her during the summer. It is the best I can afford to do.—Omaha World.

Didn't Care to See It.

Artist—Now, you must not go until you have seen my best work. I wish to show you a picture that was exhibited in the last Paris salon.

Miss Porcine (of Chicago)—Excuse me, Mr. Atelier, but I don't care to examine any saloon pictures today.—Judge.

But Probably Loss.

Namby—I just lent ten dollars to Pamby; I wish you would make an item of it, Mr. Bookkeeper.

Bookkeeper—Shall I debit it to cash?

"I guess you don't know Pamby very well. Put it in the profit and loss account."—Yankee Blade.

The Reason Why.

Jinks—I called at your boarding house today and saw the table nearly set for dinner, and I must say things looked very neat. I never saw a whiter tablecloth in my life.

Blinks—No, she doesn't make her tea, coffee or soups strong enough to stain.—New York Weekly.

A Nuisance.

One of the worst of nuisances is
The chap who's up at early dawn
Making the lawn mower zizizziz,
Rasping the whiskers off the lawn.

The hateful whir
Of the fierce machine,
The buzz and the burr
Excite the spleen
Of the man whose sleep
Is driven away,
And with curses deep
He begins the day.
But the lawn mower chap
His ardor whets,
And he's never so happy as when he gets
Up close to the room
Where his neighbor lies
In the morning gloom,
With staring eyes,
And twists and turns,
Till, half insane,
At last he learns
'Tis all in vain.
He cannot sleep,
All hope is dead,
And with a leap
He bounds from bed.
Oh!

One of the worst of nuisances is
The chap who's up at early dawn
Making the lawn mower zizizizis,
Rasping the whiskers of the lawn.

LONG LIFE

There is nothing in the world more generally desired than long life, yet the majority of people put off caring for their health—not because they are really careless, but because we live our lives at such a pace we have not time to give the subject sufficient thought until we receive a reminder in the shape of a severe illness

Then, too, we are constantly bewildered by the various schools of medicine, and the physicians who represent them, and often blunder in our choice of a doctor.

If people only knew that the very best health-keeper, life-preserver, and disease-preventer that has yet been discovered, is summered down into a concentrated and very palatable form in the shape of New Style Pleasant Taste Vinegar Bitters, they would not hesitate a moment to try it.

But they do not know. How can they know, when so many not only worthless, but positively injurious drugs are constantly flooding the market under various names guises, that the New Style Vinegar Bitters is as bad as any of them?

They do not know, of course, unless they have the courage to try the New Style. It straightens out a tangled-up system in a very short while, and those who buy it once buy it always.

Why don't you try it, reader? It is sent out by a responsible house, and is exactly as represented. It costs but a dollar for a very large bottle. Try it once and you will never be so glad of anything in your life. Your druggist may not have it, but he will order it for you. Be sure it says New Style Pleasant Taste on carton and bottle before you take it. Try it, and you will feel happier than if you had found a gold mine, for it really is a mine—of health.

The services at the Christian church last evening were well attended to hear Mr. Updike's discourse on "The Ark." He spoke at length regarding the building of the ark by Noah and of the pattern by which it was built. He said the ark was a type of the church today, and the one door shows there is but one way to enter the church, which is by faith in Christ and a full and complete acceptance of Him; the one window in the ark was placed in the roof—a type of the one light in the church today, the Bible. This forever destroys the idea of men coming into the church just as they please or of having more than one light after they get in. The window being in the roof it prevented Noah from seeing his neighbors drown; when he looked out he must look up to God. Building the ark alone would not save Noah, but he must go in as did the animals and must enter by one door; so in the church today—works alone will not save any man. The people then did not believe Noah's preaching and would not repent or prepare for the flood; so today men seem to think the gospel an old story and many delay their preparations too long till the flood comes, and then it is too late.

The invitation to accept Christ was responded to by one young lady last evening, and at the close of the service several were baptised.

Prof. Hawes returned from the Ohio Christian Missionary Society's convention at Youngstown yesterday and conducted the song service. He will continue the work from now, and Mrs. Hawes was expected on the noon train today from Ada.

There will be services at 7 this evening, and at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. tomorrow. There will also be a special song service at the church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The services Sunday evening will be in Music Hall as usual. You are all kindly invited to all these services. Seats are always free.

At this stage of the work there have been thirty who have accepted Christ and entered into His service. Friend, if you are not [illegible] [illegible] delay or [illegible] the matter? You know your duty [illegible] to say, "I will go now."

WOMEN'S ENFRANCHISEMENT

Rev. Anna Shaw Lectures to a Large Audience at the M. E. Church.

A full house greeted Miss Anna Shaw, the celebrated lecturess, who spoke last night in the M. E. Church, on the time-worn and yet ever interesting topic of "The Enfranchisement of Women." Although in Marion, as elsewhere, this subject is somewhat unpopular, the vast audience showed its appreciation of the gifted lady's arguments by marked attention, that was gratifying. Miss Shaw is a regularly ordained preacher of the Methodist church, and in personal appearance prepossessing.

The meeting opened by singing, followed by the reading of a scripture lesson by Miss Mary Bunker. The Rev. Mr. Lucas, of the Episcopal church, followed with a prayer, well worded and appropriate. A ladies' quartette then gave in a very pleasing manner the selection, "Rock of Ages," after which the presiding officer introduced Miss Shaw, who rose, and casting her eyes contemplatively over the audience, began in a clear, well modulated voice, by saying: "I have always been unpopular. When I knocked at the doors of the church for ordination I was told it would be an unpopular thing for woman to preach. * * The subject before us tonight is one that has ever been near the hearts of the faithful members of the W. C. T. U. * * We believe in the enfranchisement of women. Ever since the days of the Crusade the thought has been working in the minds of our gifted leaders, and as we women are always tenacious of any subject we expect to go on until it is accomplished. Great movements have ever followed great needs. In those days after the close of the war our people were too busy to pay attention to the great wave of intemperance that was flowing over our land, so was born the Crusade." She took the position that all the outcry against giving the ballot to women was unjust, and out of harmony with the righteousness of laws. She gave some very good hits at Senator Ingalls, to whom she referred as "the little man from Kansas." She argued convincingly the right of a government to protect itself from dangers, and the right of all citizens to the protection of the laws of that government. * * If women are persons, as our statute books have so denominated, then we, as persons, have our personalities to protect. * * Women are equally interested with men in regard to property, etc. She made the assertion that "in Ohio the dead father has more power over the child than the living mother; that he can will away both children and property from the wife, if he so chooses." She further claimed that in the development of society women were equally interested with men, and generally did three fourths of the work. She leveled her shafts of sarcasm at the action of the late general conference of the M. E. church for voting out the delegates, for no other reason than that they were women, "that on account of absurd prejudices and inconsistent distinctions women were denied their rights." She said "the law prohibits idiots, paupers and insane people from voting, but to my certain knowledge whole 'poor houses' were brought in on election day by ambitious politicians. * * Boy babies may not vote, criminals may not vote, and women may not vote! For the others, an explicit reason is given, but for women—none! It is stipulated in our laws that there must be a love for the government on the part of her subjects. "Who has shown a greater love for country than woman?" Miss Shaw denied in a very pretty way the tradition that it was a "forefather" who landed first on Plymouth rock, and asserted that it was a well authenticated fact that it was a foremother. She proved beyond a doubt that the average women has gumption, that Shakespeare put a Portia on the judgment seat to untie instead of cutting the Gordian knot, that it was Helen Hunt Jackson who gave the world "The Century of Dishonor" and "Ramona."

Her closing argument was the absurdity of the assertion that "women would be unsexed if granted the right of voting," and that "women had no ability to decide measures," and referred, in a humorous way to the "illustrious personage, Jeff Davis, who as a punishment for his crimes had been disfranchised and classed among the women."

At the close of the lecture a collection was taken and about $15.00 were realized for the W. C. T. U. of our city. We bespeak for Miss Shaw appreciative audiences wherever she may go, and if they are not convinced they are at least entertained.

Marion Gun Club.

The regular weekly shoot of the Gun Club occurred Friday afternoon, having been postponed one day to give the boys more time in which to recover from their Kenton defeat, and then the new traps did not arrive until Friday. The shooting was rather careless, yet the seven of the crowd that visited Kenton made 147 birds, seven more than ten made away from home. Frash was in great luck and led the club with 23. ENCOURAGING WORDS

Mr. Howland Says We Need Not Fear About the Waterworks, That They Will Be Completed Within the Specified Time.

Mr. A. H. Howland, senior member of the firm of waterworks contractors, is in the city on business pertaining to the building of the Marion plant. With a view of learning the state of affairs, relating to the Marion works, the STAR sought that pleasant gentleman and was granted an interview.

"What have you to say of an encouraging nature to our doubtful people, Mr. Howland?"

"Well, sir, the pipe has been contracted for, with a Louisville firm, and shipments will begin at once. The gates and hydrants have been contracted for with a firm in Troy, N. Y., and the contract for the stand pipe has been let to Tippett & Wood, of Philipsburg, N. J. The engines and pumps are being negotiated for, and the bidding has narrowed down between the Dean and Worthington people, and the order will be given on my return to Boston."

"But when will work begin?" was asked.

"We are working now," answered Mr. Howland, "but probably not the kind of work that you refer to. Next week we will begin the foundation for the stand pipe, and will complete it by September 1st. It will be, by the way, five feet larger in diameter than was contracted, making it twenty five feet. Our tools have been shipped, and two foremen ordered here. As soon as the condemnation suit is settled the reservoir will receive the attention of a large force of men, and we expect to lay the pipe practically as fast as it arrives."

"Will you be able to complete the plant in the specified time?"

"Oh, yes, rest assured of that. We really have until December, but we expect to have all done two months or ten weeks in advance of that time."

Mr. Howland touched upon other matters relating to the plant in his interesting way, but all his words were encouraging and sufficient to dispel the doubts of the interviewer.

Memorial Day.

Headquarters Grand Marshal, Marion, Ohio, May 25th, 1889.
General Order No. 1.

In the observance of Memorial day, May 30th inst., at this place, the grand marshal has selected the following staff officers: Col. O. A. Risard, chief of staff; Capt. E. H. Rallensperger, adjutant general; Col. Clark Dix, lieutenant; Col. J. L. McAlane, quartermaster sergeant; John Cocheral and Lat Dorward, aids-de-camp, and they will be respected as such.

The several bodies participating in the ceremonies of that day will report at Grand Army hall by 1 o'clock p. m. and be ready to form into line by 1:20 p. m. when the procession will move to the cemetery.

The staff officers will report at these headquarters at 12:30 p. m.

The comrades of the G. A. R. and all others participating will report at the headquarters of Cooper Post at 9 o'clock a. m. to visit the cemetery in Pleasant township and other places where soldiers are buried in the vicinity of Marion, that a detail may be made to decorate the graves of such soldiers.

A special meeting of the G. A. R., S. of V. and P. O. S. of A. will be held at the headquarters of Cooper Post on Wednesday evening, May 29th, at 7:30 p. m., to complete arrangements. There will also be a meeting of the committees at the same time and place.

A full program will be published next week.
